

---

Today's message will in many ways follow in the footsteps of the previous ones, as we are still intent on being your cheerleaders as it were. Let us explain. For many, this process can be likened to a trip on a rollercoaster, and a rollercoaster enveloped in darkness at that. As you all know so well by now, there is no way to predict just what will happen next. Will it be a day of joy and upliftment, or will you be plunged into a seemingly free fall without an end? This is indeed a process with so many ups and down, and the interval between these abrupt shifts varies too, so you never know when everything changes suddenly again. Up and down and sideways, to and fro, everything is like a restless energy moving you seemingly at random through your days and your nights. It might feel scary, as there seem to be no control or plan behind any of this. Well, let us just say that nothing could be further from the truth, as this is all mapped out in meticulous detail beforehand. But again, we follow a plan and a sense of time that differs mightily from the ones you are so used to, so everything will seem to be very, very chaotic at times. Just do not think that this feeling of chaos will go away anytime soon. In fact, it will seem to be increasing, as events will soon take a turn for the worse. Or rather, on the outside, or to an untrained eye, it will seem to be for the worse. But for us, and those amongst you already sufficiently aware to be able to discern between illusion and truth, all of these seemingly negative effects that will start to spin their waves all across your globe will be seen for what they really are. A purging of old and outdated systems in preparation for the insertion of the new.

In other words, the dismantling process will be taken up a notch, and as such, much dismay will be spreading through a large proportion of your fellow humans. They will see only chaos, but you will see order where others fail to see anything but sure signs of collapse. This may sound confusing, but as we have stated on so many occasions by now, the old must be literally blown away in order for the new growth to take hold. And fear not, this does not entail bringing you all back to the primitive days when it was every man for himself, and where the power of aggression and fear ruled supreme. No, we are talking about something else than mere anarchy here. We are talking about a process that will be literally setting new and magical things into motion at the same times as the old ones are extinguished. You will not be left dangling in an empty void between these two states, but it will in many ways feel like that to so many of you. You see, there is no good way to describe all of this beforehand, as you have no way of understanding it just yet, but trust us when we say that you will be taken well care of throughout it all, as without you, this process cannot be completed. So it will do nothing good at all if you were literally frightened out of your wits and thereby rendered unable to finish the work you came here to do. Although you will at times feel very vulnerable and lonely, we will do our utmost to make sure that you will still be able to function, and messages like these will only be a small part of this helping hand so to speak that we are at all times holding out towards you.

We will repeat this message again and again, as it is indeed imperative that you do come to terms with the fact that although everything around you will seem to be collapsing, mayhaps including your own physical body and your mental state, never forget that you came here specifically equipped to be able to sustain the sort of pressure you are currently under, and more so. But as you are indeed sheltering inside the somewhat frail looking physical body of a human being, you will at times have a hard time believing in your own strength. There is no need to doubt yourselves, but it is very understandable if you do so, therefore we will in many ways be stepping up the contact over the borders as it were and help you to regain your memories. As we have already stated, you are made of the same stuff as the stars, and you are no less than indestructible, and now will be a good time to start tapping into that reservoir again. Do not fear that you will become trapped by your own frailty. It does not exist, only in your mind, and it is time to let go of the reins that the mind is trying to control you with.

We have said this on so many occasions, but now, you will all have the opportunity to start testing out this in a major way. You see, you will meet many obstacles in the upcoming days and weeks, so try to keep these words clear in your mind, or rather in your heart, and make an effort to see past all of the negativity that will cloud so many other people's judgements. Again, you have been well trained to think that anything "negative" that happens is cause for alarm, and maybe even some self-recrimination, but that is only if you see it with the eyes and beliefs of yesterday. In the new way of things, you will see that as always, everything happens for a reason, and any form of collapse or dismantling is only a clear signal that a resurrection is about to take place. And no, not resurrection as referred to in your holy books. We refer to a resurrection of a whole planet, not a single being or a single idea. So do not get trapped by the mounting fear from all of those unable to see the silver lining in the clouds that will soon start to envelop you all. You will be hold aloft not only by your own soaring spirit, but also by the support from all of your brethren, both in human shape but also of the more celestial kind.

So keep going ahead, even if your mind tries to tell you to run the other way. It cannot sway you, only if you let the voice from your heart be drowned by the mind's incessant whining. You are made of far stronger stuff than that dear ones, and we know you will prevail, even if you at times feel a nagging doubt descending like a pallor over you. Remember what we have told you on so many occasions before: these challenges are in no way a sign of any wrongdoing or "bad karma" on your part, far from it. All of these challenges are merely signposts along the way, and they are pointing out very clearly that you are advancing at a rapid pace indeed. At times the pace might seem to be a bit too much, but be that as it may. We are more than confident that you will take it all in your stride. Just remember to look back over your shoulder at times, and marvel at the long succession of signposts you have already passed. You have made it this far, dear friends, and there is nothing holding you back from attaining that final goal shimmering at the end of this obstacle course. You might get a bruised knee on the way, but nothing that will harm you too much. So keep going confidently ahead dear ones, even if the next part of this rollercoaster might be a bit more exciting than you mayhaps bargained for. Remember, we know the whole setup of this journey ahead of you, and even if we are not the ones travelling it, we know fully well that it is more than within your reach to do so. So have faith that even if you feel tossed about on this rollercoaster, it is not about to derail. Not now, nor ever, so lift your arms and scream and shout to signify that you are not at all overwhelmed by any of the twists and turns this ride will take. It is a thrilling one, is it not? After all, it is the ride of your lives dear ones, so make sure to enjoy it even if your mind tries to tell you to get off at the earliest possibility. You would not want to miss out on the best part, would you?

---

132

Today will mark the passage into a new part of this transformational process, as you will all be exposed to a new level of "radiation" to call it that. Let us explain. As you have probably understood well by now, you are brought up in vibration notch by notch, and although this process has been going on for many years for some of you, now the time has come to really start speeding you along in this evolutionary process. The reason for this is a simple one, as you first had to be exposed to the lower levels in order for your physical body to be able to readjust itself after each new period of treatments. But now, you have all become sufficiently hardened to be able to withstand the massive doses you are about to receive, and these doses will have far reaching consequences indeed. Let us just say that all of these preliminary rounds have in many ways been only testruns for what is to come, and now, after extensive testing and calibration, you have all been deemed as ready to go to the next level. So you see, even if you do feel ready to fall to pieces at the moment, you are in fact far, far stronger than you have ever been, and it is only the limitations of your mind that will hold you back from literally trusting yourself and leaning on your own full powers with all of your weight. But now the time has come to really test you and stretch your limits beyond what you could ever think was possible. This may sound frightening, but again, we would never, ever expose you to anything that could be harmful to you in any way.

This does not mean that it will not be perceived as less than comfortable in many ways, but still, it is literally not more than you can bear. What your mind has to say about this, is quite another matter, so as usual, the mental part of this process will be the most challenging one. You see, you will have a hard time coming to the conclusion that all of this hard work being done on your body is in fact healthy for you, to use a word you are all familiar with. That is because your body is only used to the everyday wear and tear it is regularly exposed to, and anything that goes beyond these limits will seem to be very harmful to you. Well, in this case, the opposite is true, as your body has been conditioned to weather out any storm at the moment, and storm is what this will feel like in many ways, and of a magnitude that you have not experienced before. This does not mean that it will be a relentless barrage of energy that will leave you unable to function at all in this upcoming period, but you will all experience periods that will be extremely intense, and that might make some of you prone to going into fear. Please try to keep it together and go back to these messages, as we will reassure you all the way throughout this ordeal that you are in safe hands. As always, if you listen well to your body, it will tell you the difference between the distress signals it will send out intermittently in these upcoming days, and you will be better equipped to sort out all of the false alarm bells that might go off at any time throughout this next downloading period.

We tell you this because it is important to start to trust your own judgement, and to know when the mind is only trying to generate more fear in order to stop you in your tracks. That is understandable, because the forces coming in now will play havoc with all of the old and cemented patterns that abound on your planet. Not only in your mind, but also in your body, as it has been set up with a few little inhibitors in order to keep you down as it were. In other words, these new energypatterns coming in will also break loose anything that is not good for you, including these implanted false mechanisms, and they will certainly not go peacefully. We do not refer to any sort of artificial devices here, but rather to a part of the reprogramming you received many lifetimes ago that has been put in deliberately in order to limit your strength and to shorten the lifespan of a human body. Now the time has come to start the deactivation of all of this, therefore the physical symptoms during this next period might differ from the ones you have experienced up until now.

Remember, do not let that lure you into the trap to think that something might be amiss, as a change in patterns usually engenders that response in a human mind. Instead, take it as a confirmation that you have just passed one more of those signposts we have mentioned earlier, and that it is all a signal that you have taken a significant step closer towards finalizing this transformational process. So hang in there as they say, and know that even if the rollercoaster will seem to be hurtling ever faster along an unseen track, know that you are not falling down into an abyss, even if your mind tries to tell you otherwise in these next few days.

Tension will be running high as the incoming energies starts to work their magic on you all. Or rather, magic will seem to be a somewhat ill-fitting word, as you will in so many ways feel less than magic as these waves take their toll on you. Already, some of you will have been hit hard by these emissions, and the physical and mental bodies are both struggling to keep up with the pace. This will only be intensifying as the day goes by and more and more of these emissaries from outer space hits your shores. But do not be frightened dear souls. You are about to be bathed in a light of a magnitude you have never ever experienced before, and this will wash away almost every conceivable impurity you still might harbour in your system, and the rest will be taken care of by subsequent waves of high intensity radiation that will soon be arriving in the aftermath of the first ones. This will sound dramatic, but rest assured that no matter what you will experience in the next few days, all will be well and everything is carefully planned up ahead.

As always, these treatments will all be carefully tailored to suit each and every one of you, so although the process will be simultaneous, the outfall from it will be felt very differently for you all. Suffice to say is that it will be intense indeed, but the intensity cannot mask the fact that you will feel your strength finally returning to you after being kept out of your reach for eons.

That is all we have for you today sweet ones. We will keep the missives somewhat shorter in the days ahead, as you will all be more than busy processing your own personal energy downloads to be able to focus much on other things. That is all for now, we leave.

---

As you have already ascertained, much is going on at the moment, both on the surface, but most of all hidden from view. You have certainly felt the stirrings of the new energies already, as they are not shy in announcing their arrival. This was only the first of many visits, or rather, encounters, as these visitors certainly aim to stay permanently in your system from now on.

Let us explain. As we have already stated, these intermittent bursts of energy that will arrive on your shores during this period are certain signals of a revolution that has finally started to arrive after much awaiting. It has been a long wait for many of you, but let us just say that the waiting is not all over yet. We hear a sigh of exasperation from so many, but let us hasten to add that this is indeed a total aboutface of your whole setup, and as such, this will not and can not be finished in one setting. In other words, this is the beginning of a very, very thorough reset of your whole programming, and although the first and certainly most important step has been taken by this initial insertion of energy, you have a whole lot more coming your way, and you will not have to wait long for the next round to arrive. In fact, we are talking only a few hours, then you will once again be on the receiving end of another important and mayhaps somewhat forceful new round of energy updating that will leave you all a bit reeling as it were.

In other words, utilize this small breather as best as you can, and be prepared for another shall we just say shock to your system. And again, we use the word shock to imply an intense shake up of your energyfield in many ways, but it will be a shock you have all been well prepared for, so it will not take you unawares. In addition, always remember that even if these jolts of energy in many ways can feel very unpleasant and unsettling, they are not harmful per se. Only by giving in to your fear can they harm you, as then you leave yourselves very open and vulnerable. Your body is more than capable of handling anything that comes in its way in this upcoming period, that is, as long as you do not allow your mind to interfere with its niggling comments designed to lower your threshold for maintaining your composure. In other words, try your best to keep it together, and all will be well, and do not let your mind convince you that you are falling apart. You are not, you are only being rebuilt in a much stronger version than you currently can claim. That is all for now, we leave.

---

135

Today's missive will be a short one, but an important one. Now the second round of energy updates is in full swing, and many of you have felt the brunt of this already. Your body may have a hard time adjusting to these new levels of energy, but it will not take long before it is ready for the next one. That is fortuitous, as this next round will be even more intense than the first two, so you see, there is a pattern here with steadily increasing levels of magnitude. You will have a short period of adjustment between them, but they will not last long, so you best use them for all they're worth as you will soon be laid low with another of these very important upgradings.

We are so proud of your accomplishments, and we do applaud you all for volunteering to go through this ordeal. It is not an easy one, and it is about to be even that little bit more challenging. This is mayhaps not the message you hankered for at the moment, but again, remember that all of these upheavals, both internally and externally, must be seen as positive signs of evolving. So keep up the good work sweet souls, you are indeed the bravest of the brave, soon to become the strongest of them all. That is all for today, we leave.

---

136

Let us start today's missive with a few pointers as to how this process will continue to evolve. Already, some of you have had the opportunity to delve into memories that have survived the transition between the different states you currently occupy, or in other words, you have been able to recall some of the things you witnessed or maybe even participated in whilst being in a state far removed from the so-called "normal" one you currently spend most of your time in. It will in many ways be both uplifting but also somewhat disheartening for some, as the return back to the daily grind might seem to be a bit more than what you can bear at the moment. The comparison might seem to be a bit inaccurate, but for some, it will be like going away in a beautiful dream and waking up in a nightmare. This nightmare seems to be pressing in on all sides, as the collapse becomes more and more apparent, whilst the much heralded new dawn seems to be more distant than ever.

We understand this, because it is in many ways like standing on a scaffolding that is being dismantled literally beneath your feet, and all you can see is a gaping abyss below you with no hint of anything solid that might dampen your fall when the last bit of this flimsy structure is taken away. That is a very good simile to the procedure you are currently in the midst of, as all you can see, except for a few short glimpses into the other world at times, is the disappearance of the very ground beneath you, as everything and everyone seems to become even more set on running over the cliff by becoming more and more panicky in their reaction. This, coupled with the fact that all of these much talked about sightings of what is to come seem only like some sort of mirage, will turn all but the bravest into falling deeper into despair than before.

After all, you already KNOW what paradise is like, therefore, the world surrounding you seems to become darker by the hour, and you cannot fathom how you will be able to hold your beacon of light steady throughout all of this upheaval. It seems like you are literally running out of fuel, because you have yet to see anything definitive that will help to sway your persuasion for good. What you are all waiting for, is a sure sign that the new dawn is more than a veil of smoke and mirrors too, as you cannot yet see anything but through the illusion created by those set on keeping mankind forever in the dark. Now that you have seen through this illusion, it becomes very, very difficult to find any meaning in staying on in it. You want something better than this, and something better is indeed looming on the horizon. But where is it, you cry out in desperation, and the cries are becoming more and more insistent as the times goes by and all you see is more suffering around you, and what you feel, is a body that is struggling harder and harder to be able to cope with all of the hardship it has to go through in order for you to be able to reach that fabled destination. Well, let us just say that you are in for a nice surprise dear ones, something that will put your hearts at ease, and that will dispel much of the doubt that is still lingering within you.

We talk not of a world event such as often described in your films, where people stand agape as massive ships descend from the sky. No, we talk about a personal invitation to something else, to a space where you will be shown what your dreams are really made of, and where you will be able to see, touch and feel the manna you have craved for so long now. As always, we speak in parables, because this is not something your vocabulary can describe adequately. Therefore, all we can say is that heaven is indeed waiting just around the corner, and your cries for solace have not gone unheard. We know you all need just a little bit more reassurance, and we will do our utmost to make sure that you get that in the very near future. That is all we want to share with you today dear ones, at least in this manner. But please make sure to open your heart in any way you can in the upcoming days, and we will do our best to slip in and say hello and take you over to greener pastures as it were. At least, to give you small glimpse of what you have in store once this charade you still have to be a part of each and very day has outlived its stay and you can finally relinquish the hold this dense underworld has had on you for eons.

---

137

Today we would like to focus on the fact that so many of you are starting to feel more and more untethered from the third dimensional world that is surrounding you on all sides. That is very commendable, as this means that you have worked very hard to ensure your freedom from the yokes so many of your fellow men are still carrying around on their own volition. But at the same time, this leaves you with a very different burden, namely the burden of uncertainty. Let us explain.

As we said earlier, this process is much like standing on a scaffolding being dismantled, and doing so whilst not seeing anything new materialize. So, you are in many ways stepping into a void, or rather, a seeming void, as there is still no traces of what is to come. There are some traces, of course, but they seem very minuscule and no contest for all of the solidity currently enveloping you on all sides. Therefore, it will at times seem to be mere folly in continuing on in this vein. It is like you are throwing away everything you know in exchange for nothing at all.

In your hearts, you already know that there is no truth to that tale, as you are merely throwing away everything that hinders your access to what your heart is already full of. But on the outside, this process seems like madness to many, and we do defy anyone who say they have not had a moment of doubt at any time during this process. As you know already, this is certainly for the bravest of the brave, as this stepping out into the void is not something you can take lightly. It is a process that requires perfect trust, and even when you feel yourself falling into deep space, you still have to be certain that your feet will touch solid ground sooner or later. And even if the fall at times seems endless, it will have to end in a soft landing indeed. At least, that is what you hope for, but it takes courage to take the plunge over the ledge as you have all done now. Cudos to you all, we cannot say how much admiration your actions generate throughout cosmos, as you are seen as the bravest carriers of light anywhere in Creation.

Again, this will seem to be only light words of praise we continue to strew around you, but it is so much more than that. You all know so well what we are really on about, but it is not easy to put it into words like the humans need to communicate between themselves. As always, you need to read between the lines in these messages, and there is where you find the true worth. It is like those encrypted messages encoded into ordinarily looking photos being posted on the internet. On the surface, they do not look like much, but to a keen observer, they can divulge so much additional information if they are being "read" in the right way.

Let us explain. We have often talked about the energy packets that are being streamed down to your planet. Some of them come via the sun, but most of them come in more discrete ways than through a mighty blast on the surface of your friendly neighbour. You see, there are all sorts of lookouts out there, ready and eager to intercept anything benevolent being beamed down into the hearts of humans that will ensure their awakening. In other words, your awakening is a threat to all of those still intent on keeping the status quo on Planet Earth, therefore they will go to great lengths to stop this process in any way they can. But they cannot stop this process dear ones, as information that will all help you to literally see the light again is being constantly showered onto this planet, and these words are a part of that.

Every day, every hour and every second messages like these, in many shapes and forms, are being transmitted from thousands of sources both in your vicinity but also from afar, and channels like the one we are using now, are being kept busy transcribing these signals into words and sharing them with the rest of humanity. There are literally millions of you dipping into these pools of information every day, and these pools are constantly being refilled with new energy. In addition, these words help to carry out far more energy than the mere juxtaposition of letters in these words suggests, and they should not be taken just at face value. You see, they are carrying hidden passengers in so many ways, and these "passengers" or rather encrypted messages connect directly with the subconscious part of your brain you cannot yet reach as easily yourselves, and there they deliver their message of hope and strength.

This may sound ominous, like a sort of unwanted manipulation of your subconsciousness, but it is anything but. Your subconsciousness is intelligent enough to know the difference between good and bad, right and wrong, and it will instantly reject any attempt at manipulation. In other words, it will only accept messages that resonates with the very core of your soul, and as we have said on so many occasions already, deep down, you already know EVERYTHING. So what these hidden messages really do, are to help to release all of that hidden information you already carry around. It is like a primer that will start a chemical process, releasing the dormant energy and ensuring a well planned and timed outburst of this internal information. In other words, you can liken it to a sort of remotely controlled release mechanism, but it is one that is already accepted by yourselves beforehand, so it is not like you are once again being manipulated by unseen puppeteers. No, this has been part of your programming from the beginning, and now your innermost core is starting to hum with the increasing energy that is being released inside of you all.

This process also explains why you feel drawn to some of these thousands of messages, and why you disregard others. On the surface it might seem to be only the content or wording of the messages themselves, but the reality is that the encoded information carried inside of them is what draws you to them. In other words, your inherent intelligence will only resonate with the messages that carries the right kind of energy for you, and it will repel any that is literally out of tune with your core melody. So again, remember that this is a path that in many ways can be likened to tuning up an instrument. You instantly know when something is out of tune, and you can feel when the tune is getting purer in tone, so as long as you listen to that inner song, you cannot help but follow the right path. Your heart will sing out in joy when you do so, and everything will be grinding to a jarring halt when you do not. Therefore, never take someone's word for anything. Always, always listen to yourself, and the truth will be literally blindingly obvious. Follow the voice of your heart, and it will guide you in the hours of darkness ahead. And know that you have already amassed all of the extra information you needed in order to liberate what you all carry inside from the dawn of time. Now it will finally start to surface, and you will be able to swim in this ocean of pure light once again.

---

138

As of today, many of you will be assigned new levels of interaction. Let us explain. For a very long time now, you have been followed very closely by a whole host of benevolent beings, all set up to make this journey of yours as little complicated as possible. That may sound like an overstatement, as "uncomplicated" is mayhaps not the first word that comes to mind regarding this process. However, let us just say that this labyrinth would have been an even more complicated maze to navigate did you not have the assistance of this ground crew, or rather, esoteric crew, to keep you going ahead despite all of the hardships you have had to endure this far. But now, as you have all risen to a new level of vibration, this "ground crew" has been replaced by a whole new one. They will accompany you on the next stretch of this journey, and we invite you all to connect with them in any way you can, and trust that you are indeed in good hands, even if they might seem a little bit unfamiliar to you at first. You see, they all know you intimately from before, as they have been following you from afar whilst others have kept up daily contact with you, so they know you literally to the very core of your being, and they will be well equipped to help you handle all of your needs from now on.

We hope this will be of reassurance to all of those still feeling a little bit lost on the way, and also that it will feel encouraging to those still set on "going alone" as it were. To some of you, this may sound condescending, but it is anything but. You are indeed sovereign beings, and you choose your path ahead voluntarily, but even if you do not choose to connect in any way with your helpers to call them that, they are still there in the background doing what they do best. In other words, you are still carrying the heaviest load yourselves, but we are picking up all the loose ends in any way we can, and we are indeed at your beck and call if you should need any additional assistance. Remember, you have to ask for it as always, as we cannot force your hand in any way. Still, we will not leave you hanging as it were, and even if you choose the solitary travel, we surround you on all sides ready to lend a hand should you want one.

Let us just start today's missive off by saying that we are indeed very proud of your accomplishments dear ones. You have managed to take it all in your stride, and we do applaud you for your never ending efforts. This is a mighty undertaking indeed, and even if you yourselves cannot yet see the end of it, we do, and that is a beautiful sight indeed. Yes, it is a sight, not a mere apparition, as in so many ways the end product is already manifest. You see, we operate on simultaneous timelines, therefore we can see what you can not. And what we see gives more than reason to rejoice. As some of you might be aware of, multiple timelines means multiple choices, and you have, by your actions, chosen well. You have chosen the brightest of them all, and that will be apparent to you all in a not too distant future. This might sound complicated, but for those of you with some knowledge of quantum theory, you know that you inhabit a world where every second, every decision you make send you off in a new direction. You are literally swimming in a sea of possibilities, and now, enough of you have made a conscious decision to choose at the lighter end of the scale to make that option feasible once more on your planet.

For a long time, humanity has chosen the darker end of the spectrum, hence the fear based civilization you have all created. But now, you have tipped the scale in favour of an alternative world view, and as this is what you have chosen in your hearts, this is what you will get. So, endless possibilities and endless choices have been narrowed into two: either to stay on in the version created by old minds, or stepping into the new one you have chosen for yourselves. You made a wise choice dear ones, and you will certainly more than reap the benefits from this.

As you have already ascertained, this choice did not come lightly, and it will not manifest all by itself. No, it is by your actions alone that it will come true, and believe us, it will. Not for you to continue living in your dreams only, those dreams are now well on their way to become reality for all those who have chosen to step into the light. Not long to wait now, so rest assured that even if your patience is starting to wear thin, it will be able to endure the remainder of this creational process. We think you will find yourselves eagerly awaiting the next step, as this will indeed be bringing it all so much closer to home in more ways than one. Take a deep breath, and release some of the tension this watching and waiting has created, maybe it will help you see some of your creations up close already.

Let us just begin this missive by saying that these next few days will be important indeed, not only for you personally, but also for the rest of the world. We think we can say that the changes that will be brought about now, will be regarded as amongst the most important ever created on your little planet. Let us explain. Up until now, you have all painstakingly been building up yourselves from the shattered persona you once was. In other words, you have taken upon yourselves to rectify the wrong being done not just to you, but to the rest of humanity by obscuring yourselves from the very truth of your being. Or in other words, making you forget the glory of your origin and reducing you mere whispers of what you once was. You have taken away all of these limitations put upon you, and you have seen to it that the tarnish has been polished off, and you can once again shine with the splendor you all possess as your true birth right. Now the time has come to start showing the rest of the world this truth, and you will be helped in this by outside intervention as it were.

Once again, we will not give you any specific details as to what will happen or the exact timing thereof, suffice to say it will be a major undertaking that will have the rest of humanity sitting up in their chairs. You see, now the time has come to lift the veil just a little bit more in order to make even the blindest amongst your fellow men start to tap into the source behind it all. In other words, many will have a hard time adjusting to the fact that there might be more than one truth out there, as the one you have started to become more comfortable with, will also start to knock on the door of those who have so far refused to listen to the beckoning call from their own well hidden source of information.

You will in many ways become transparent, or in other words, those around you will be made to look closer at what is going on around them. Many will for the first time come to terms with the fact that this world is now existing on two different planes, and that an ever larger number of humanity has chosen to open the door into that parallel plane that up until now, the majority has not even taken into consideration. Well, let us just say that after this weekend, the number of people having to face the fact that the time has come to make a choice whether or not to continue in the same way as they have done for such a long time, will grow exponentially. The time has come to stir up the pot a little bit extra, and we think the fallout from this will be interesting indeed. So be prepared to be surprised sweet ones, we think you will see for yourselves that this planet is starting to change in so many ways it cannot any longer be ignored.