

Today is an auspicious day indeed, as much is changing on so many levels. Not much is visible on the outside, therefore it will be easy to dismiss the news we would like to impart. However, let us just say that nothing could be deemed as less accurate, as you have no idea as to just how much is happening at the moment. A quick perusal of the news would at least give you some tidbits as to what is going on. As usual, upheaval, violence and other forms of drama are getting more and more prevalent. In addition, the financial sector is struggling very hard to make the impression that they have everything under control. You see them on the news, but their grave faces give away the truth. Their world is falling apart, and now they are trying to salvage the remains in any way they can.

In other parts of the realm, you are all going about wondering what is really happening at the moment. It might seem to very quiet now, apart from the turmoil being rapped worldwide in your mass media, but as we have said on so many occasions, never be taken in by what is presented as facts. This illusion is growing thin at the edges, and if you look closely, you will see the reality starting to seep in from so many directions. "This is only an illusion" is the message you will be hearing ever clearer as the days goes by, and we venture a guess that this is exactly what so many of you are starting to take in also. You see, it is not easy going from being a regular member of the cast that make up this whole production made entirely by smoke and mirrors, and to being the individual that finally takes a peep behind the curtain and sees the whole thing for what it really is. Namely an illusion put together to play tricks on your minds so that you believe the "truth" you are being served, and thereby willingly play out your little part in this farce. When you finally see this for what it really is, continuing to play your role is no longer possible, but as we have said earlier, the difficult part is finding a new footing when the old one has fallen through the cracks, without a new one materializing underneath you. You seem to be floating in space, in more ways than one, and this can be very disconcerting.

At times, you will feel literally like an astronaut floating around serenely in space, all alone and with no discernable life anywhere. But the strange thing is, it does not feel scary, it is a little bit like being a fetus floating inside the womb, where you feel surrounded by love and totally secure. You have no way of knowing where you will be in the future, but you feel calm and without worries, so the future will come and bring what it may, you know all is well and that you are protected. This feeling of being totally separated from everything whilst at the same time feeling at ease even without any clear idea of what will happen next is something that will start to seep into your lives sweet ones.

For many, it will sound like a fantasy that is starkly at odds with the reality they are facing each and every day, but for others, this will be a state of bliss they have already experienced in some ways. We hope you all will see this side of the reality soon, because when you enter this state, even if you only linger there for a moment, it will help you endure the next stage of this transformational process. Because then you will know that there is no more need to fear the future. You will feel this state of bliss starting to seep into every cell of your being, and even if the world around you is behaving more and more irrational, you will see it for what it really is, a play of shadow and light, a mere whisper of smoke that is trying to obscure your vision of the future.

For the future is nothing like the one they are presenting you 24 hours a day, every day of the week on all sides. The future is the feeling of bliss you will soon enter, and it will be a place of tranquility and connectedness like nothing you have ever experienced before. But to enter this new space as it were, remember that you will have to take the first steps on your own. Therefore, seize the opportunities you get to seclude yourselves and go into your own space. That is where you will find the bliss, not chasing around in the ever more intense "outer world" filled with anxious people running to and fro, feeling the oncoming of the storm. Find your space, whether it is inside or outside in mother nature, and make sure that you give yourselves the time and space you need to be able to disconnect completely and reconnect with your source. Then you too will find that state of bliss, and once you have experienced it for the first time, you know you will never have a life devoid of it ever again.

Find that space, and you will find your future sweet ones. And enjoy the journey inside, we think you will find some parts of yourselves you never even knew existed, and they will certainly be worth the while.

---

Part 92

Let us begin this missive by saying that although many of you have already started to feel the separation growing ever stronger, now this phase will certainly start in earnest. We have just discussed the fact that you will enter the state of separation that also contains certainty, in other words, this feeling of unease that has so far accompanied this feeling of separation will now start to dissipate. That is another and let us just say decisive effect of this process, as you up until now have been so emotionally unable to complete this process. You see, the programming that has enabled you to be a part of the play that consist the illusion you have been living in for so long has made you almost unable to exist outside of it. Too much fear has been set into this program, fear that would be triggered as soon as you started to step away from it all. But now, you have successfully managed to free yourselves from this enslavement to such a degree this inbred fear will also start to lose its grip on you all. This will have many implications, and it will in many ways be the heaviest burden you have shed yet. This fear can be so crippling, as it ensures you stick to the program as it were, and as you well know by now, the program we refer to is the one that has been set into place to keep humanity enslaved forever.

Fear has been the most effective shackles sweet ones, but now as you manage to wrest them away from you once and for all, you will see just how much lighter you are, and this journey will take up a new momentum. This will be in stark contrast to all of those around you still embedded in this old program, as their fear will only be mounting to new heights as they see so much they have taken for granted starting to crumble in front of their eyes. And as you also know so well by now, nothing is as contagious as fear, and it will spread like a wildfire and thereby suck the last remnants of willpower away from so many of your fellow citizens. For those of you who have already felt fear slunk away with its tails between its legs, you can already watch with detachment as the rest of the world whips themselves into a frenzy at each and every opportunity.

Fear can manifest itself in so many ways, and you will be witness to the whole array of it as things starts to escalate. It will come in so many shapes and forms, and none of them are in any way a testament to the inherent power of mankind. For only those devoid of fear will be able to find their own strength. Witness the upheavals in the Arab states last spring. It was the absence of fear that enabled thousands upon thousands of downtrodden people to finally stand up for their rights. And people without fear are people that find the means to resolve their problems in a peaceful way. People full of fear will resort to other, baser ways of defending their own rights, and this will be prominent in the days and weeks ahead as the fear escalates worldwide.

But at the same time, more and more of you will find your own strength, as the fear will be forced to leave your shores, and thereby, your actions will be of a totally different caliber from those enwrapped in the mass hysteria that will start to unfold in so many places.

You will be a counterbalance to all of this fear and rage, and you will be able to keep that balance no matter what happens. You see, you will find in your core that peace and tranquility we have discussed in earlier transmission, and then you will be able to stand calm, just like an eye in the storm, and face whatever may come with the same detachment. This will serve not only you, but also those sufficiently awakened around you, and again you will be like the lighthouse casting out light in the midst of the storm, and your light will make it possible for others to reach their own calm harbour amidst the breakers. That is, if they choose to do so. We have said on so many occasions that this is a game of wills, and only those choosing so themselves will be able to join you in your calm and safe harbour. But never forget, those choosing to remain smothered by the stormwaves cannot be blamed in any way. It is a path they have deemed is right for them, and they are indeed entitled to that choice, just as you are entitled to yours.

For many, that is a difficult truth to swallow, as they will see so many of their loved ones willingly engulfed by the stormy waters. Again, we must remind you that it is not your duty to be the lifeguard, your duty is to be the lighthouse, and their duty is to follow their own path, even if that means going under again and again. You will know that this is right, but still, it will be painful to so many, so be vigilant so you do not fall for the temptation to blame yourselves in any way for the actions of others. It may sound callous, but your only responsibility is your own actions, never ever that of any other, no matter how closely linked you are. And again, if you go deep enough inside, you will find that calm haven you can rightly refer to as home, and when you reside there, you will know all of this so well, as it is written in your core.

Never forget to keep your lights lit dear ones, it will be much needed in the time ahead, and know that just by staying in your truth, you will help others see their own when the time for that is right for them – not when you deem it to be so.

We will return with this message again and again, because we know that this will be the most challenging part for many of you. You know the truth of this on your hearts, but being a human for such a long time has made such a deep impression on you all, and it takes some time to unlearn what you have been programmed to think and do. But never forget, you have all come such a long, long way from being the "perfect humans" you once were. Now you are finally starting to get a taste of the freedom from having cast aside so much of this old programming, and you will start to see the real you coming to the fore, and you will never again think of yourselves as mere humans. You will become whole again, and with that, the best part of being human will once again start to be visible, undampened by the old layer of grime that have accumulated from generations of being forced to be something else. It's time to start to shine again sweet ones, and it's time to shine in earnest, for what you have seen so far is only a dim candle compared to how strong your light will become once you learn how to switch it to full powers. Get ready to flick that switch and blow us all away with the force of your beam! We can hardly wait to see the effect this will have on the rest of humanity.

We have come today to give you all an update as to what will be transpiring in these next few days and weeks. As always, we will refrain from giving you too much details, as this will only serve to confuse you, but we will state the fact that for some, this will be days of confusion, no matter what kind of advance notice we could give you. You see, so much will take a sudden and unexpected turn for so many of you, and later, you will indeed look back on this period as one of the most important – and indeed – transformational ones of your whole existence. We know that so many of you are hankering for details, and you are eagerly awaiting some sort of confirmation of global events. Well, let us just say to you wait and see. For soon, nothing will be like it was before, not only you, but also your surroundings, as the forementioned changes will indeed be on such a scale that no man will be untouched by this in some ways.

We hear the cries of fear from many, as this seemingly heralds a mass destruction of some kind, but please do not whip yourselves into a frenzy. As we have said on so many occasions before, there will be a massive transformation taking place on your planet, but it will not look like any of those doomsday prophecies that have been so avidly described by all of those Hollywood productions. They have been made with one thing in mind, namely that of scaring the wherewithal from you, and thereby underscoring the notion that you are unable to have any say in the transformational process of your planet. You are in other words nothing more than powerless victims, and if your world shall change, it will certainly be a turn for the worse. Well, let us just say that they are wrong on both accounts, as you world is certainly changing much thanks to your efforts, and it will certainly take a turn for the better.

But never forget, the birth of this new world will be dramatic in many ways, and as we have repeated again and again, just as a natural birth, it will be accompanied by fear and pains for many, but the outcome will be a radiant one. Just make sure that you are amongst those that manage to stay out of fear, and our missives lately have given you a few pointers as to how to achieve and maintain a more stable and tranquil base, and we ask you to take these messages to heart. You see, your balance will be seriously challenged now in so many ways, and it is therefore imperative that you work hard on finding that clear and calm center, so that you manage to stay firmly anchored in it no matter how hard the storm blows around you. And make no mistake, the storm will come, and it will indeed blow away so much of the flimsy structures that have been set up all around you, masquerading as a beneficial society structure for all, when it in fact is nothing more than a mockup put in place to make it look far sturdier and more important than it really is.

Again, we do not give you this information to scare you, but to prepare you to weather out a storm that will come as a surprise for so many. We talk about a storm that will create havoc in so many peoples minds, as they will have a hard time seeing behind the scenes as it were and see it for what it really is, namely a much longed for cleansing of your world, where so much of the old grime finally will be blown away in order to make you all take that first breath of fresh air after centuries of being forced polluted air in so many ways.

We know that this message will be met by ridicule by many, and that is indeed understandable, as it will confirm to them that there are deranged people all over the globe crying "wolf" at every opportunity, and to them this message will be just one more of those clumsily put together manifests of unreason. That may well be so, but we will as always implore you all to listen to your hearts, and then you will know if these words ring true for you. It is not for nothing that we say this, as the web is awash with all sorts of doomsayers and naysayers, busily hacking each other apart. That is perfectly normal, as it is indeed a normal way of creating division amongst

you. Take this message as you will, but be sure to stay true to your own truth sweet ones, then this avalanche of information and disinformation will be much easier to navigate.

As we were discussing, much is indeed going on behind the lines as it were, and soon everything will come out in the open. Then everything will have to start all over again, as nothing will be left untouched by these revelations. Mankind has for so long been kept literally in the dark, but when the light finally lights up every dark corner, no one can hide from the truth that will be made glaringly obvious to you all. And the truth will indeed be very, very hard to swallow for so many, as they will feel that everything in their lives have been build upon a false foundation, and now that foundation will be ripped apart, and they think they will have to start all over again.

That is where you come in sweet ones, as you will be the ones that will still be able to stand tall, because you have already been exposed to the truth, and you have seen what's in store after the fall. In other words, you will know that this is not the end, this is only the beginning of something new, and you will know that the new is where you are going. You know, because you have been there before, as it will be a place that is exactly how you remember your distant past, a place where love rules and where the light is the leading star. You will know what to choose, and the line between those choosing to remain in the shadows and those that dare to step into the light again after millenia immersed in the darkness will finally be drawn.

But before you all have the choice to cross that line, much will come about that will lure some of you over to the other side, where the fear lurks in the shadows, ready to pounce and take your powers away. We will repeat this again and again, because as you know so well by now, fear is the only thing that can take your resolve away, so best be vigilant so that it does not pierce your armour dear ones. Take care, and we shall meet you on the other side of that line in a very short time. We are all looking forward to that moment, as it will indeed be a much longed for moment in all of our lives.

---

Part 94

We are aware that for many, this waiting will be hard to take, and for some, this waiting has been stretching out for almost all of their lives. You see, this has been a long time coming, and for those that were amongst the first to open their eyes and see through the illusion, this process has been almost unbearably long. We sympathise with you all, as we know fully well that residing in a world that feels more and more foreign to you whilst realizing that something wonderful is waiting in the wings must be frustrating to say the least, but still, we will have to ask for your patience once again.

As we have stated on so many occasions, timing is everything, and that is indeed the case here too. Nothing can be or will be rushed, and even if patience is growing more than thin in many of you, we cannot speed up this process any more than we already have. Or rather, you have, as you are the ones who have managed to adapt so fast to this increasing amount of incoming energy, to the point that we have actually gone beyond the amounts that were specified for this period. We know that this will be a small consolation to you all, as in your hearts and minds you are all well past the stage the rest of this world's inhabitants are, and for you, the sensation of being stuck in an ever more frustrating world can be almost unbearable.

We have said it before, and we will repeat it again, that everything is unfolding according to plan, but we are also fully aware of the listlessness and irritation that is creeping into many of you.

Why not get this finished once and for all, you think. This world is only getting worse by the day, atrocities abound, and no one seems to care for anyone but themselves. Be that as it may, this will unfold in increments, but as we have already stated, something is afoot that will push everything forwards in a mighty leap indeed. We know that this will be met by much scepticism, and that for you, the sensation of time is one that still holds you in a viselike grip, and therefore it seems that everything is happening at a snail's pace at the moment.

This is very, very far from the truth, but the truth is at the moment hidden away from any clear view from you all, and therefore it certainly looks even more distant than it did only a few months ago. We know that this will sound like we are pulling the wool over your eyes and trying to fool you all into thinking that more is happening than what is reality here, but let us just explain a little bit about these proceedings.

At the moment, there is a quickening in the air, and we think you all have felt this in some sense or the other. At the same time, everything seems to be eerily quiet, so you might have a sensation of standstill one day, or maybe even regression, but the next day you might feel a heightened sense of anticipation and a rush of eagerness, like something is finally about to happen. That is easy to explain, as now there are so many movements going on hidden from view for you all, as much is being put through their final phase in preparation for the big event as it were. And no, we will not go into any details explaining just what this big event is, neither will we give you a definite timeline for the unveiling of it all, and we know that this will have you all groaning in frustration. You see, all of this cloak and dagger is done with a good intent, and it would not do any of you any good if you were to know more about any of this. In addition, this could put the whole thing in jeopardy, as there are indeed those out there literally dying to get their hands on this information in order to put a spanner in the works as it were.

You are understandably frustrated by all of this, especially since you all sense that something important is literally almost on your doorstep, and just like children before christmas, you cannot wait to see what is hiding behind that enticing wrapper, but we have to disappoint you yet again and say "not yet" sweet ones. The wait will not be long, but it will seem to be forever to some of you, but all we can say at the moment that when that day arrives, you will all know that it was certainly worth the wait, and more so, as then everything will take on a whole new meaning, not only for you, but for all of creation. Until then, we will do our best to keep your spirits up, and we hope you do the same. Not only for yourself, but also for those around you that seems to be flagging more than you. It might seem to be too much to ask at the moment, but look closely around you and you will start to see some bright spots appearing already. Try to focus on them rather than all the dismal news you are constantly being bombarded with in the mass media, then this time of anxiously awaiting the big event will feel shorter.

And remember, even if you feel like you are in a vacuum at the moment, you are anything but inactive. You have no idea just as to how much you are all contributing to this process at the moment, but rest assured that you are all working at the best of your abilities, and you are doing even more than we could have hoped for at the outset of all of this. It might not be visible to you at all at the moment, but you will soon see how everything comes together perfectly, and then your role in all of this will finally be revealed in all of its glory. Try to dampen your frustrations and work on your patience and never let go of the trust you have in this process. You knew it would be challenging when you applied for this job, but you never knew the waiting would prove to be your biggest challenge. Just hang in there as you say, and soon all of your hopes and dreams will be proven beyond doubt to be so much more than mere illusions.

We know it is much to ask for, but we also know that you are well equipped to get through this phase also. And never forget, there are so many out there ready to give you a hand should your own morale flag too much. Just remember to ask for assistance, and you will receive it. But do not forget, the assistance may come in a very different form from what you expected, so keep your hearts and minds open at all times sweet ones. We are all in this together, and we will make sure that you get the best help you can in order to help you float through these waters, whether they seem to be dead calm or they seem to be going almost over your head. Just remember, all is well and just as it should be, even if it from your perspective might seem to look less than positive at the moment. The light is starting to get brighter, so make sure to focus in the right direction. It has never been more important that you do so, as now the illusion of darkness will seem to be more powerful than ever. Do not let that fool you sweet ones, dawn is approaching as fast as it can, and you can already see the first rays of the new sun over the horizon if you lift your eyes from the chaos on the ground.

---

Part 95

Let us continue this saga by delving more into the emotional upheaval so many of you are currently experiencing. As we have stated in earlier transmissions, this period will indeed be amongst the most challenging ones for you, and the reason for that is the barrage of mental detritus that is currently surfacing for many of you. This will come in many shapes and forms, but what they have in common is a feeling of undermining your personal conviction to the point of almost surrendering yourselves into a flood of helplessness.

Again, each and every one of you have your own personal battles to take on, and in most cases, they will not be like any others, but there are still some points that might make it easier for you all to see more clearly what this process is all about. Let us explain. We referred to dregs or detritus, and that is actually the root cause for all of this unpleasantness covering so much of your days and nights at the moment, almost like a bad smell you cannot find the source for and is impossible to evade. So too is this mental rollercoaster being perceived, as something unwanted that surfaces at the most inopportune moment, and that can spring forth suddenly without any apparent cause. Hence, the sudden moodswings, periods of intense anger and feelings of aggression, downcast days where nothing seems to have any meaning at all, and days of seemingly perpetual sunshine and euphoria. To an untrained eye it might seem to be like an affliction that needs some serious medication to keep it in check, but nothing could be further from the truth. In fact, this regurgitating of so much dross to call it that is a very important step of this separation process we have talked so much about lately, as it is in effect a very, very thorough cleansing process that will ensure that you all can step into your new lives as it were devoid of any of that old baggage, mental or otherwise, that served to anchor you to your old moorings.

These bubbles of heavy energy that percolates up to the surface of your consciousness is nothing but old and stagnant energy that has been trapped deep inside of you, like gasbubbles in old sediments, and now they are being released and will pop up to the surface and evaporate. Yes, as they literally "pop" they will be gone for good, and will never return to your system, so you better look at this as a very beneficial process, although the process in itself might not be much to feel good about once you are in the middle of such a release of noxious fumes. Just remember sweet ones, you cannot be damaged by any of these fumes, that is as long as you do not gather them in again by latching onto the fleeting feeling of unease, anger or defeat and take it for something much more solid. Then these feelings will stick to you like mud, and you will have a much harder time scraping them off. In other words, see them for what they really are, namely a transient memory finally passing away from you for good, and although they might be perceived as somewhat malodorous, they are actually cleaning the air as they are finally being expelled from your physical and mental body. Just remember, these bubbles, to call them that, are not only from this life, they have been gathering inside of your system for all of your lifetimes here on this planet, therefore they might be a tad more numerous than you would expect.

So to sum it up. Yes, this is indeed a period with a plethora of unpleasant emotional challenges, but they are doing you a world of good – in a very literal sense. You are all cleansing yourselves of your innermost residue of negativity, and this will certainly make its voice heard as it passes through you and out into the atmosphere. Just make sure not to listen too closely, or you might mistake it for some vital information. It is not, it is only the remnants of an old programming trying to raise its voice yet again, but the tune it is giving out is certainly as out of tune as they come, so do not give it any attention. It will literally sing itself into oblivion, but as it does, it might affect not only you but also those around you, so remember to take care not to pick up on the smell of bubbles that those around you are emitting.

As we said these emotional burpings will feel very real to you, even if they are only old fragments of earlier experiences, and as such, you will have a hard time separating your real emotions from the ones stemming from these releases. So too your neighbour, and this will inevitably lead to confrontations, as you will all struggle mightily to keep your balance in times like these. Therefore, things may take a sudden turn in many a situation, so keep vigilant and always try to discern what is behind any of these sudden outburst you might encounter, whether they be in yourself or in a person close to you. Do not carry fuel to the fire if such a situation should occur, and do your best to take a step back in order to survey it all from a more detached position. It will be hard at times, but it is important, as this is indeed a period for too much drama if you fall into the trap set off by these "bubbles".

Again, we know it will be difficult to maneuver through these ever murkier waters, but remember that all of this murkiness is actually a sign of clearing up, and by releasing all of this old dross, you will all soon be able to perceive everything around you with a much clearer view.

---

Part 96

For a long time now, humanity has strived for better days, but alas, the results from all of this struggle has not been a successful one. At least not on the outside, as your world is still struggling under the burden of mismanagement and lack of freedom. But be that as it may, we can now safely herald the coming of a new age for you all. You see, under the oh so quiet surface at the moment, a mighty undertaking is on its way, and it will have far reaching consequences for you all. We are well aware that for many of you, these words have started to ring tired and indeed overused, as you have been waiting for eons for such a change, and for you, nothing seems to be apparent that might convince you otherwise. You need hard proof you say, and we cannot fault you in that, as only the bravest of hearts can be counted upon to keep their faith burning in a world such as yours.

Believe us when we say that we cannot and will not fault any of you for becoming less than convinced that something magical is afoot, as there are so many signs telling you otherwise. Therefore, let us just repeat that from now on, you will indeed start to see ever more clearly that a change is indeed under way, and these small sings of approaching dawn will quickly spread and light up even the gloomiest corner. Soon is a word we have often been accused of overusing, and rightly so, as "soon" can have many a connotation. As you well know, we all differ in our perception of time, and for you, soon usually signifies "right now" or in a second, but for us, soon refers to something that is indeed imminent of being materialized, but we cannot give you an exact time frame for the actual event.

This will cause more than a few raised brows, and a lot of irritated sighs, we are fully aware of that, and we cannot give you a more detailed description of coming events than we already have, except to say that you will be more than pleasantly surprised by certain events that will take place within a very short timeframe indeed, even by your standards. That does not mean to say that you will spring forth into a new world within the week, but you will certainly see some events set into action by the time the light of the full moon starts to shine. This is only a few days away, so we will certainly make sure that something newsworthy will appear in that timeperiod indeed.

But just to make it a bit more complicated, remember that the actions we refer to might not be anything like you expect. You see, in your hearts, you are already expecting world peace and a freedom from any financial burden, sickness and despotism, and that is what you are hankering to see played out in all of its splendor. Yes, that will certainly be the end result from all of this, but it will not miraculously appear overnight. As we have gone into some details explaining earlier, this is not a linear process, and for you, this will be very difficult to understand. You have been trained to believe that all evolution follow a certain model, where events are linked in a special way, and where A needs to happen before B come come into play. Whereas to us, time and space are indeed malleable, therefore Z can come before B, and A at the very end. This will sound confusing and only serve to muddy the picture, but what we are trying to say is that for human beings, there are so many limitations as to how something can change, and as you are still strictly bound by what you perceive to be possible, you cannot even begin to understand how this process can come about in any other way. Hence the disillusionment so many of you feel, as you are quite right to surmise that according to your set standards, the changes we have been referring to for so long cannot even begin to have any effect during your lifetime. It will simply take too much time, as there are such a vast amount of humans still opposed to or unaware of there being any other way of solving things than the ways you have devised for yourselves.

Oh but there are so many other ways, sweet ones, and soon you will see for yourselves things that will make your head spin. Yes, we will continue to use that overused word "soon", and you will probably start to dislike it even more before you will be able to take it to heart that things are indeed happening at a rapid pace, and not in the agonizingly slow one it seems to be at the moment.

We throw words around seemingly at random at the moment, and to many, this will look like we are paddling around trying to keep your focus off the real target, namely the specific details as to what is indeed going down these next few days. We take this accusation lightly, as we know fully well that there are so many out there who will be justified in saying so, as to their eyes nothing will be changing, or if it does, only for the worse. Let us just remind you that the truth can be and will be hard to see, as what is presented as such in your mass media is only a minuscule part of what is going on on your planet at the moment. You are presented facts and numbers from a few corners of your globe, and you watch in horror as it seems that your whole world is slowly but surely sinking under the burden of bloodshed, greed and powerlessness. That is because the ones ruling your world take pride in harnessing in your powers by hammering in the same message again and again, and it works beautifully.

Just remember that there are indeed 7 billion of you out there, and of those 7 billion, so many have awakened to the fact that this world needs an about turn, and it needs it quickly, and just like you, they are working hard to assure that this about turn will come as soon as possible. And just like you dear ones, they are working ever so hard hidden away from the prying eyes of the powers residing at the top. Therefore, they are also hidden from view from the rest of you, so your toil will feel more than futile at times because you think you are so scattered and few. And although you at times get a small notion of the powers you actually harbour inside, it can be difficult to grasp the fact that you are currently being connected to such a powerful and all encompassing grid you will be able to literally outnumber the rest of your human compatriots. Not in sheer numbers, but in sheer force, and the impact from that powersurge will knock the lid off the pressure cooker that you have been trapped inside for such a long time. Believe us when we say that you will be more than amazed by the power of this "explosion", as it will literally blow to pieces any doubts as to the feasibility of this vision of a better world you all carry in your hearts. It is not a dream for much longer, it will be a reality soon, so keep your hopes up and sharpen your wits, as there will be clear signs of things to come in a very short time indeed.

---

Part 97

First of all, let us take this opportunity to congratulate you all on completing another installment of this saga. You might not be aware of this, but you have just finished downloading another increment of the literally life-changing bouts of energy that is constantly being beamed not only into you, but also the whole of your planet. It might not feel like much at the moment, but this bout of boosting codes were amongst the most important ones you have received up until now. As you might be aware of, this year titled 2012 is the one that has been designed as the year of 0, or the year where everything is shifting into a new dimension, in more ways than one. You have only reached the beginning of the third month of this year, but already so much has been changed it could fill almost a lifetime of a so-called "normal" human being.

We are well aware that for many, these changes seems to be obscure to say the least, as they cannot fathom that anything at all has changed in their life, at least nothing that can be detected by a superficial scrutiny of everyday life. But, as always, we do not refer to superficial changes, we refer to those monumental shifts taking place not only inside of you, but inside your planet as well, and we can guarantee that nothing on this magnitude has ever taken place in any of these forementioned locations before.

Some of you have already detected this, as a sort of swell starting to come in from the horizon. You can feel the movements as something huge indeed, but you cannot pinpoint where this movement originates from, neither what it is really doing. It is a little like being on the back of a huge animal slowly moving across uneven ground whilst being blindfolded. You can feel the slow and steady rhythm of the steps and the undeniable force beneath you, but you have no sense of direction or of time. So too is this process moving ahead, with a seemingly low but undeniable steady and unstoppable forward momentum. Soon, these waves of incoming energies will force these movements further into your field of vision, and you will start to see more of the effects of these swells, but we defy anyone that say that they are unable to detect any of these undulations at least once during a normal day. Some have likened it to standing in the middle of a river moving slowly but steadily towards a hidden horizon, others to being inside a huge wave slowly building upwards as it approaches the shore. It is at times exhilarating and frustrating, as you can distinctively feel that something big and powerful has taken hold of you and is transporting you somewhere, whereas you are totally unable to detect any trace either of this "beast" or the direction you are being transported in.

To some, this will engender a measure of fear, as you are constanly being told the virtues of keeping control over you life, and this thing you are riding now is clearly something totally beyond anything you can have a say in. Do not let this fool you into thinking that you have been kidnapped by something that will take you away to a place where you have no wish to be taken, nothing could be further from the truth. You have in fact been allowed aboard the train to tomorrow, and the feeling you have now is a confirmation that the train has certainly left the station and is gathering momentum to take you all to that place you have been longing to go for such a long time.

Again, much of this journey will be kept in the dark as it were, that is, we will not yet show you neither the captain and crew on this train neither the scenery from the windows, that will come in a little while, but rest assured that you are in very good company indeed, and that this journey has been set up with your best interest at heart, so just sit back and enjoy the journey sweet ones! We cannot say just when you will arrive at your designated destination, but we can guarantee you that you will find the journey to be to your liking, even if it might feel a tad strenuous at times. Even if we are responsible for the logistics of it all, you yourselves play a prominent part in realizing it, so this is not a journey for idle sightseers, rather a business trip for humans set on making themselves ready to attain the ultimate goal of freedom from the old world and all of its connotations. That does not mean that you will not have time to enjoy the amenities, far from it, but it will be liberally interspersed with rather intense working periods where you all will be toiling merrily away both together and separately. We use the word "merrily" with intent here, as we know that although at times very arduous, you would not like to miss this once in a lifetime – or rather lifetimes – opportunity to ride on this freedom train together with so many of your fellow men. So sit back and relax while you can sweet ones, the bell will soon ring to call you to another class on this life changing express train to tomorrow.

---

Part 98

Did you hear the clarion call from above sweet ones? The sun is yet again in the throes of multiplying the energies she is kind enough to send your way, and this is only a prelude to what you have in store. Do not think that this is only a superficial event that will light up your skies in pretty colours, no this is actually signifying the onset of a much heralded event that will take you all by storm, if we might use such a word. You see, these energies are triggering major transformations, not only in your bodies, but also in that celestial body you inhabit. In other words, Mother Earth is gearing up for a major event that will signal the beginning of the end. No, not "the end" as in the end of the world, but the end of the old and the final birthing of the new. This may come as a surprise to those of you still in the throes of doom and gloom, as you will have your hearts set on a transformation set to a pace by humans. In other words, a transformation orchestrated by humans alone, in humanity's almost unbearably slow pace. Oh no, that will not do, as that would be akin to trying to turn around a massive supertanker in order to avoid a collision. You see, you do not have time to wait for such an agonizingly slow about-turn, so now you will indeed get help from the celestial forces as it were, and we think you will find that things will indeed take on a much faster speed altogether. We could well call it "the speed of light", as this is indeed what will signify the startup of this process.

Let us conclude this short message by saying that although what we have referred to in this missive may sound ominous to you, remember that things are never what they seem at face value. You might see something as "catastrophic" or "bad" when in fact it is nothing but a very effective cure for an ailment that is slowly but surely strangling its host. And now, the parasites you have been harboring for such a long time will start to realize that their time is up, so they better get ready to relinquish the hold they have on humanity. Freedom is beckoning just around the corner sweet ones, but be prepared that it might be obscured by a haze of fear for a short period of time. That is all we have for you today, but we will soon return with more on the same subject.

---

Part 99

Today, much will be set into motion that will change the lives of so many. We talk of course about those lifechanging events that on the surface seem at times unobtrusive, but under the surface, a total rehabilitation will take place. The incoming energies will be of such a magnitude they will blow away the cobwebs from so many, and they will indeed manifest themselves almost instantly. Do not be astonished if you find yourselves rather worse for the wear as this day goes by, as there is much that needs to be absorbed into your physical body during these next few hours. You see, as you have all been set ablaze by so many new codes, your body will indeed have a hard time assimilating it all, and might throw rather an intense tantrum to show you that it is not pleased at all by what is going on. Do not fear for this sweet ones, it will only be a temporary inconvenience, and it will not be harmful in any way, only rather uncomfortable.

This will also be a short missive, as we only want to point out some of the side effects all of these intense upgradings will have, but in the long term, the effects will be far reaching indeed, and we will return to this topic later on. But for now, let us just conclude that you are well under way to becoming the shining beings you are meant to be, and that gladdens us to no end. So even if the medicine tastes a tad bitter, it will be oh so sweet to all of you when you discover just what it will accomplish inside you all. That is all for now, we will return later on with more.

---

Part 100

As the sun sets tonight, do not forget to give her thanks for the formidable job she is doing to prepare you all for what is to come. She has been abundant in sharing her energy with you these last few hours, and her generosity is far from over. If you only knew how much her gifts will mean to you all, sweet ones! She is showering you with her offerings of love and purity, and this stream of consciousness is so strong it will wash away any traces of grime that is still clinging to you. This process is far from over, as she still has more than a few tricks up her sleeve, so be prepared to be deeply touched by her infinite willingness to share of her abundance.

Rejoice sweet ones, you have been awakened to a new day, and this day will certainly count amongst the most important ones in mankind's history. Just do not expect to see many traces of it on that superficial facade you call reality. That third dimensional charade will still be going on for quite a while yet, as they have not yet awakened to the fact that nothing will be the same ever again, and so they will continue to play out their parts to perfection. Know that this can only be likened to those phantom pains signalling the seemingly attachedness of a missing limb, as the body has yet to discover that it has been removed for good. So too will the pains of living inside a world still dominated by that lower density construction also fade away, once you all register the fact that it is only a lingering imprint of what once was.

Now the time has come to start to rub the last remnants of sleep from your eyes, and you will all start to see things much more clearly. Stay alert for any passing feeling of disappointment and fear, as they will inevitably follow in the wake of all of this, and remember to take a deep breath so you can better withstand that new wave coming in from the horizon. Take care sweet ones, you will not want to be taken by surprise by what will happen next, so find your balance and work hard to keep it as you will be tested in more ways than one in these upcoming days.